RUSSIA TO FLOAT BIG LOAN.

Czar's Government Will Borrow Over Three Hundred Million Dollars.

New York, Oct. 19.—Some details concerning the proposed new Russian loan of $360,000,000 became known in this city says the Herald. The details came to hand in a late edition of the Paris Temps and some others were obtained from an authoritative banking source full detail of the program

It was definitely said that it is the present intention of issuing the full amount of $360,000,000 half of which it is proposed to place in France, with the balance divided in about equal proportions with bankers in London, Amsterdam, Berlin and New York. For a period of time said to be one year, the loan, which it is intended to be identical to all countries, will not be interchangeable or saleable outside of the country in which the various proportions are issued.

New York's proportion of the loan will be about $50,000,000 or exactly $:5,000,000, if the plan of dividing the half not taken by France, is apportioned equally among the four other participating nations it was stated.

A syndicate is already forming here to underwrite the New York allotment which in all probability will be handled locally by J. P. Morgan & Co., which firm has sent Mr. Perkins to attend the St. Petersburg conference.

As to the issuance price of the loan, whether all countries will stand on the same footing, there is a difference of opinion, or at least the question has not as yet been definitely determined.

It is said, however, that the bonds would, in all probability, be a 4 per cent issue, and sold to the bankers at 99 less a commission of 2 per cent.

POLICE SEEM POWERLESS.

To Check the Italian Blackmailers in Their Operations in New York.

New York, Oct. 19.—More effective measures are taking, it is admitted, by the police that they are powerless to check the army of 5,000 camorristi who infest New York.

So bold have these brigands become that the success of their black-mailing Italian merchants and escaping even suspicion of complicity in the crime that their demands are increasing at an alarming rate. So systematized has the campaign of brigandage become that, according to Sergeant Petrosino, who yesterday applied to Commissioner McAdoo to have the force of Italian detectives at police headquarters increased from five to 30 and that members of the band are employed in many of the little Italian banks, scattered through the east side, to watch the deposits of the small merchants.

"At present we are helpless to a great extent against these desperadoes. They know the penal code from end to end. I have information that there are not less than 20,000 members of the camerrora in this country, working under twelve leaders stationed in the principal cities."

Whipping Boss is Arrested.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 19.—Sensational charges have been made against Pomp Dickson, a w[illegible]ng boss in the Bibb county chaingange, by citizens who were his neighbors, and there were developments which resulted in his being taken under a warrant by Deputy Tomlinson, and the sheriff is in possession of both the prisoner and a quantity of household goods claimed by Hattie Lesuers, a negro woman.

Lake Mohonk Conference Opens.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 19—The Lake Mohonk conference of Friends of the Indians and Other Dependent Peoples, was opened today by Alfred K. Smiley. It was on Mr. Smiley's invitation that persons particulari interested in the Filipinos, the Hawaiians and the Porto Ricans joined with those especially interested in Indians in the yearly meetings at Lake Mohonk.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 19.—Retained figures on the attendance at the Lewis and Clarke exposition which were made public yesterday by the department of admissions show that a total of 2,551,720 persons passed into the grounds during the exposition period. Of these 1,129,871 were paid and 921,

TORNADO STRIKES ILLINOIS VILLAGE

Four Killed and Many Others Are Seriously Injured.

FORTY HOUSES ARE DESTROYED

Telegraphic Communication with the Town is Cut Off and Details of the Storm Are Meager—Oklahoma Town is Also Visited by the Storm.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—A tornado struck the village of Sorrento, Ill., 32 miles northeast of St. Louis last night killing four persons, injuring 35 others of whom three will probably die and doing a great amount of damage to property.

Forty houses were blown to atoms or carried far from their foundations. A complete swath was cut through the town. Everything in the track of the tornado was reduced to debris or carried away.

The dead so far reported are:
Mrs. Thomas File, 38 years old.
Mrs. William Stewart, 60 years old.
William Mann, 60 years old.
Harrison Mann, 18 years old.

Partial list of injured:

Mrs. William Mann, Frank Shields and his two daughters; Mrs. I. J. May, Charles Miller and his wife; Henry Hays and wife; Henry Barlow and wife; William Kirland and wife, the latter will probably die; William Stewart, will probably die; Thomas File, fatally; Mrs. Phoebe Moore, Mr. and Mrs. George Root, Mrs. John Griffith.

Telegraph communication with Sorrenton is cut off and details were obtained over the long distance telephone.

The four killed were in their homes in different parts of Sorrento. All are badly crushed.

The storm approached from the southwest and the main residence portion of the town. The work of the wind was done quickly, and then followed a heavy downpour of rain, accompanied by vivid lightning and deep rolls of thunder.

Those who escaped injury were for the time panic-stricken but finally rallied, and set to work to rescue the injured.

So violent was the tornado that some residences were swept away completely and the debris effectually scattered. Houses that remained standing were converted into temporary hospitals and refuge and the people people by lantern light in the pouring rain searched through debris and dragged out the injured.

Two Killed in Oklahoma.

Ft. Worth, Tex., Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Telegram from Tulsa, I. Ter., says:

"In a tornado which passed one mile west of Manford, Okla., last night, two children of E. R. Anderson were killed, and Mrs. Anderson and Miss Maud Root were seriously injured.

"Several others are reported hurt.

"The path of the storm was a quarter of a mile wide, and several miles long.

Veteran Minister Dead.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 19.—Elder Tice Spear, a veteran minister of the Christian church is dead at his home in Portonsburg, Ky., aged 101 years. He was the oldest Christian minister in Kentucky, and doubtless the oldest in the country. He was 101 years old on the 25th of last September, on which day he had intended to preach his farewell sermon, but was too feeble to leave his room. Elder Spear was a man of superior mental attainments and was widely known.

Says Letters Were Purloined

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Unwarrantable methods in seeking evidence against Oberlin M. Carter, former army officer, against $2,000,000 from the government, are charged by Attorney Horace G. Stone, Carter's counsel. Mr. Stone has made open charges that hundreds of letters have been opened while in transit, and in some instances says some letters mutilated, forgeries has apparently been practiced.

WOMEN SOLD TO CHINAMEN.

Traffic in Human Flesh is Exposed by Chicago Police.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Traffic in young women, purchased in Chicago for practical sale in all parts of the empire of China has been discovered by local federal and police authorities, but thus far no law has been found prohibiting the exporting of American women to foreign countries.

The police are in possession of the names of two women, one in Chicago and another in Shanghai, China, who are thought to be leaders in the practice.

The plan used in the operation of the alleged ring was, it is believed, to first hire unsuspecting women, tempting them with lurid stories of wealth in the Orient. A position of maid or high servants in wealthy Chinese families is said to have been the bait offered. To bind the contract, the applicant for the position was told that her traveling and living expenses would be paid and all the clothing necessary furnished.

When the women reached China, they were immediately placed under guard and sent to the purchasers, who had previously paid from $500 to $1,000 for each.

Many are supposed to be held in palaces of wealthy Chinese under guard.

FILIPINO WIFE GRANTED DIVOCRE

Army Officer is Being Courtmartialed for His Matrimonial Venture.

Leavenworth, Kans., Oct. 19.—The divorce suit of Concepcion Vasquez, the Filipino woman, against First Lieutenant Sydney S. Burbank, Sixth infantry, which has attracted much attention in the army, has been decided in favor of Mrs. Burbank.

Word reached Fort Leavenworth today that Judge Bates, of the court of first instance at Iloilo, P. I., had granted a divorce to Burbank's Filipino wife, had given her the custody of their daughter and allowed her monthly alimony.

Mrs. Burbank brought action after Lieutenant Burbank's return to the United States and after his engagement had been announced to a prominent young Leavenworth woman. The war department provided counsel for the deserted wife.

Lieutenant Burbank is now being tried by courtmartial at Iloilo on the charges growing out of the case just decided.

LAWYERS WILL FIGHT DECISION.

Will Carry the Cases of Their Clients to United States Supreme Court.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 19.—Attorneys representing the white man and four negroes now enjoying the writs of habeas corpus of the federal court make positive declarations that they will immediately carry their cases through the state courts and thence to the United States supreme court, in order to test the issue as to whether the Macon recorder has a right to impose chaingang sentences without according trial by jury.

This is to be done because Judge Speer was reversed on the question of jurisdiction. Plans are being made for a long and bitter fight over this question.

Jamison will have recourse by appealing through the state courts, and this step will be taken at once. The city council, through resolutions of thanks, expressed to City Attorney Wimberly tonight an appreciation of the manner in which the case was handled.

Georgia Odd Fellows to Meet.

Atlanta, Oct. 19.—During the fair the Odd Fellows of the state will take advantage of the general gathering in Atlanta to hold a most important meeting of the officers of the grand lodge, and of all the division deputies over the various judicial circuits in Georgia. The meeting will be held at the Kimball house from 10 to 12 o'clock Thursday, Oct 19. The grand master, Hon. T. H. Robertson, of Gainesville, has written every grand officer, several of the past grand masters and all the division deputies and has received favorable replies from many. The meeting of these most prominent and active members of the order in the city will

PRESIDENT STARTS ON SOUTHERN TRIP

Chief Executive and Party Enroute Through Dixie.

WILL VISIT IMPORTANT CITIES.

Roosevelt Will Receive An Ovation at Every Place He Will Stop—Scheduled to Make Many Speeches on His Trip Through Southern States.

Washington, Oct. 19—The president departed from Washington, D. C., this morning, Oct. 18, at 8:30 o'clock for his tour of the south. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb, Surgeon General Rixey, John C. Greenway, of Michigan; John Elliott, commissioner of the interior for Porto Rico; M. C. Latta, and J. L. McGray, stenographers; H. A. Coleman, representing the Associated Press; R. H. Hazard, representing the Publishers' and Scripps-McRae Press associations; Walter E. Clark, representing the New York Sun Press association; H. A. Strohmeyer, photographer, and Colonel L. S. Brown, general agent of the Southern Railway company.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Mr. Elliott will leave the party at Atlanta and return to Washington. A brief stop will be made at Ashland, Va., on the way to Richmond, where the president will arrive at noon. While in Richmond the president will make an address in Capitol square, be entertained at luncheon by the citizens and then taken for a drive to the points of interest in the city.

The departure from Washington was without incident. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt reached the train five minutes before leaving time. The French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand had been waiting at the station some time to say farewell and were at once invited to the president's car. The president was in a happy vein. As he alighted from his carriage at a side entrance to the train shed he assisted Mrs. Roosevelt out and then smiled and raised his hat to the half hundred spectators who had gathered to see his departure. There was no demonstration. Four white wings lined up at the curb and lifted their helmets. In the station the public was barred behind the gates several hundred feet away, and those who surrounded the last car of the special train were mostly depot employes. Their caps were in their hands as soon as the presidential party made its appearance and respectful silence reigned.

Just before the train moved out the president stepped from the observation room to the rear platform of his car and smilingly bowed acknowledgements to the flutter of handkerchiefs of the crowd.

First Stop at Fredericksburg

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt made the first stop on his southern trip at this place. His train arrived here shortly after 10 o'clock, and although the stop was of but a few moments in order to water the engine, a crowd of about 300 people were gathered at the station to greet him. The president addressed them briefly from the rear platform of his car.

Arrives at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt and party arrived in Richmond shortly after noon.

On account of the death of the brother of Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, it has been necessary to make a slight change in the program as arranged in Raleigh. The president and members of his party instead of taking breakfast at the governor's mansion, will breakfast on the train.

PREPARE FOR THE WINTER VISITORS

Gainesville Will Have a Large Number Here This Season.

LETTERS BEING RECEIVED DAILY

From People Who Are Inquiring About the Accommodations in This City for Those Who Want to Visit Here This Winter.

Although the mild autumn weather is still as warm as summer in Gainesville, it is not the case in the Northern States, and they are now having cold and disagreeable weather, with snow and sleet, and those who know of the pleasures of a Florida winter are making their plans to come South as soon as possible.

Many people would be here now if they knew of the delightful weather we are now enjoying. Our warm days are followed by cool nights, and the idea that some people who have never been here have, that it is unhealthy, is wholly wrong. There can be no purer air than we have in October, and we doubt if there can be a healthier season. The change of climate would not affect one for two days.

We are bound to have many people here later, and Ferd Bayer, secretary of the Bible Conference, is receiving letters every day inquiring about accommodations and prices. He would like to have people who intend to take boarders or roomers to hand him their names and rates, so he will be better able to answer these letters.

The Bible Conference and Chautauqua this winter will be better than ever, and it is certain the attendance will be larger, as each year the city is becoming more favorably known.

If you can keep one or more of the number, hand in your name and street address to Mr. Bayer.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF SUN'S ECLIPSE

Nineteen Pictures Were Secured by Astronomers in Egypt.

Ann Arbor, Mich, Oct. 19.—Professor W. J. Hussey, the head of the department of astonomy has just arrived here from Egypt where he went to photograph the recent eclipse of the sun. He said:

"When the eclipse came 19 pictures were secured. They were made on plates giving the sun's diameter, a scale of four and three-tenths inches.

"Contrary to our expectations, the eclipse did not cause complete darkness. Owing to the dust in the air reflecting light from the region outside totality, it was from six to ten times brighter than full moon.

"The negatives made by Professor Hussey, have been sent to the Lick observatory. They will be studied before the results obtained by the expedition will be made public.

Impossible to For mNew Cabinet.

Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 19.In an autograph letter to General Baron Fejervary gazetted today the emperor king says that as it has not been found possible to form a new Hungarian cabinet from the ranks of the coalition party, Baron Fejervary has been reappointed premier so as to provide for the conduct ow the affairs of the state in a responsible and constitutional basis. Referring to his declarations to the leaders of the coalition party his majesty says that if they are properly interpreted they will show a complete understanding between the crown and the nation regarding the independence guaranteed by the constitution.

Governor of Madagascar Resigns.

New York, Oct. 19.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from Paris says that General Gallieni, who is now in Paris has resigned his post of governor of Madagascar. The resignation will be accepted at the next meeting of the cabinet on Friday, and M. Augnour, a deputy, will be appointed to succeed him. General Gallieni will remain inspector of the French colonies, except Indo-China.

Curiosities of Literary Worship.

The most extravagant instance of literary relic worship on record is said to be that of a well known Englishman, who constantly wears, in a small locket attached to a chain around the neck, a portion of the charred skull of Shelley.

Of late years a great many persons have visited the former residence of Victor Hugo to see a tooth of that celebrity which is kept in a small glass case with this inscription: "Tooth drawn from the jaw of Victor Hugo by the dentist on Wednesday, Aug. 11, 1871, at Vianden, in the gardens attached to the house of Mme. Koch, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

In the year 1816 a tooth of the famous Sir Isaac Newton was sold at auction by a relic monger of London and was purchased by an English nobleman for a sum equal to $3,650 in United States currency. The buyer had a costly diamond removed from a favorite ring and the tooth set in its place.

The wig that Sterne wore while writing "Tristram Shandy" was sold at public auction soon after the great writer's death for the sum of £2,000, and the favorite chair of Alexander Pope brought £1,000 at a sale in 1822.

Meals In Java.

Breakfast proper is served from 7 to 9 o'clock, but the Dutch have no idea of breakfast, and it is a very inferior meal in the hotels, at any rate, consisting merely of bread and butter, both bad, slices of cold meat left from the previous night's dinner and eggs. The chief meal of the day is "tiffin," which is composed of a dish peculiar to Java—the rice table or "rys-tafel." This is a thing to wonder at. It commences with a soup plate full of boiled rice, which is handed round in large bowls and served with a wooden ladle. From ten to twenty dishes, all put on the table at once, are then handed round and some of each put into the rice or on a small plate beside the soup plate. These dishes include fish, fowl, meats of various kinds, curried eggs, fried bananas, shrimp fritters, omelet and curry, finishing up with chutneys of all sorts served in a large round dish divided into many compartments. This concoction is then mixed up and eaten with a spoon and fork. It is followed by beefsteak, almost raw, and fried potatoes, and this, again, is succeeded by dessert.

Don't be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. J W. McCollum & Co.

The Spider.

One problem fitted for the zeal of the folklorist would be the tracking back of the spider. There is that nice story about Robert Bruce and his having learned patience from the spider. The Islamites use the web of the spider in the flight of the prophet. Probably the Arabs had it direct from the Jews. There is a Talmudic tradition of David flying before Saul and of David hiding in a cave, and how he might have been discovered had not a spider woven its web across the entrance. This is precisely the same incident as is used in the hegira. The arachabla spins but a flimsy web, but her filaments have been stronger than cables, for they still hold fast to the legends of the past.

ENGRAVED LETTERING.

Processes Necessary For Working on Copper or Steel.

Lettering may be described under three heads—large lettering, such as bond titles; small lettering, like that done on coupons, cards and tickets, and script, or writing. Some engravers can do good work in all of these branches of lettering, but in large establishments each man is kept employed at that style in which he excels.

In bonds and stock certificates the titles and script are usually done on the plate from which they are to be printed, but there is a lot of small work, common to jobs of that kind, which is done on what are called "dies" or "bedpieces," and transferred from the rolls to the plates.

In large lettering a drawing of the outline of the letters is made on paper to get the shapes, curves and spacing correct. A tracing of this outline is then made on gelatin, and, after filling this with vermilion, a thin coating of wax is laid on the plate and a transfer of the gelatin tracing put on the wax. Next the outline is carefully marked through the wax on to the plate. The wax is taken off and the artist is ready to begin his cutting.

Lettering on bank notes, if there is to be more than one note on a plate, is engraved on "dies" or "bedpieces" and transferred to the plate. This insures the exact duplication of the material of each of the notes and also makes it possible to reproduce and retouch the work at any time.

National Nicknames.

Englishmen have submitted to the name of John Bull as suited to the national character. A Scotchman is Sandy. The Irishman derives his name, Paddy, from his national patron saint, while an ancient nursery rhyme records the fact that Taffy was a Welshman. English sailors call the Frenchmen, in contempt, Johnny Crapaud, but in France he is Jacques Bonhomme, or, as a bourgeois, M. Prudhomme. Cousin Michel is the name by which the German is known to the continental nation. Mynheer sums up the Dutch, while the Switzer rejoices in the name of Colin Tampon. Don Whiskerandos is almost a national nickname for the Spaniards, dating from Elizabethan times. Italians are known as Lazzaroni and Danes as Danskers.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it, and after taking three bottles I began to get better, and continued to improve until I was entirely well." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Finger Rings Among the Ancients.

The hands of female mummies found in the tombs of Egypt are literally covered with rings, in many instances there being from two to six on every finger. In some cases these ornaments are composed wholly of gold, but in others, which probably represent all that is left of some poor man's wife or daughter, the rings are brass, glass or pottery ware. According to Josephus and Herodotus, the Chaldeans and Persians and the Babylonians were all very fond of rings and other personal ornaments.

They Warn Crocodiles.

Two or three species of birds are known to accompany the crocodile whenever he appears above water. Many a hunter has had his prospects for a shot spoiled by the alarm given to the reptile by his watchful attendants. When they see any one approaching they will fly at the crocodile's nose, giving loud cries, and the beast never waits to investigate, but instantly shuffles into the water at his best speed.

Full of Tragic Meaning

Are these lines from J. H. Simmons of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggists; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A FAMOUS PROBLEM.

It Did Not Take Newton Long to Find the Correct Solution.

In Newton's time it was often the custom for illustrious mathematicians, when they had discovered a solution for some new and striking problem, to publish that problem as a challenge to the world while withholding their own solution. A famous instance of this is found in what is known as the Brachistochrone problem, which was solved by John Bernoulili. The nature of this problem may be mentioned. It was to find the shape of the curve along which a body would slide down from one point (A) to another (B) in the shortest time. It might at first be thought that the straight line from A to B, as it is undoubtedly the shortest distance between the points, would also be the path of quickest descent, but this is not so.

There is a curved line down which a bead, let us say, would run on a smooth wire from A to B in a shorter time than the same bead would require to run down the straight wire. Bernoulili's problem was to find out what that curve must be.

Newton solved it correctly. He showed that the curve was a part of what is termed a cycloid—that is to say, a curve like that which is described by a nail on the rim of a carriage wheel as the wheel runs along the ground. Such was Newton's geometrical insight that he was able to transmit a solution of the problem on the day after he had received it to the president of the Royal society.

Bench, Bar and Beard.

The regulations for shaving observed in the bench and bar probably come down from Roman times, and the history of the custom among that people is a curious one. Pliny says that beards were universally cultivated as a matter of course till about 300 B. C., when Sicilian barbers, who probably acquired their art from Greece, first came to Rome and Scipio Africanus set the fashion of shaving every day. Thenceforward it became so much the vogue in good society that the term barbaus, outlandish, was long supposed to mean bearded, in allusion to the unkempt hair of uncivilized nations. Increased accuracy in etymology has shown the real meaning to be akin to balbus, stammering, in allusion to their uncouth speech. For three centuries barbers had it all their own way in Roman circles. Then came the Emperor Hatrian, who, as Plutarch affirms, grew his beard to hide some ugly scars, and forthwith it became the mode. Lawyers and priests, even more conservative in their observances than other folks, continued to shave; hence, it is supposed, came the traditional practice of the English bar, through the law courts of Italy and France.—London Globe.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Kicked the King's Horse.

On the battlefield, as everywhere else, Bismarck looked after the interests of his imperial master. During the battle of Koeniggratz the old emperor, then king of Prussia, had exposed himself and his staff to the enemy's fire and would not hear of retreating to a safe distance. At last Bismarck rode up to him, saying: "As responsible minister of the crown I must insist upon your majesty's retreat to a safe distance. If your majesty were to be killed the victory would be of no use to us." The king saw the force of this and slowly retreated, but in his zeal returned again and again to the front.

"When I noticed it," said Bismarck, telling the story, "I only rose in my saddle and looked at him. He understood perfectly and called out, rather angrily, 'Yes, I am coming.' But we did not get on fast enough, and at last I rode up close to the king, took my foot out of the right stirrup and secretly gave his horse an energetic kick. Such a thing had never happened to the fat mare, but the move was successful, for she set off in a fine canter."

Scenery In Bering Sea.

"Sailing southeasterly along the shore of that haunt of the walrus and polar bear, St. Matthew's island, in the Bering sea," said a navigator of those waters, "one is impressed by the mingling of the grotesque and the terrible in the character of the scenery. The northwest point of the island is split up into a collection of large rocks of most fantastic shapes. Houses, spires, cathedrals and figures of men and beasts are some of the forms assumed by these volcanic fragments, which, rising black above the white, seething foam of the sea that breaks against their base, give a weird aspect to the grim and desolate region. One rock resembling a large saddle suggested to me the thought that some antediluvian giant might in his time have straddled it and perhaps fished for reptilia over the beetling cliffs which it surmounts."

POISON IN FORAGE FODDER.

The following is from the Experiment Station Bulletin, by Dr. O. F. Dawson, Station Veterinarian, and is of deep interest to all horse breeders or owners:

"Forage poisoning, otherwise known under the names cerebro-spinal-meningitis, grass-staggers, or blind-staggers, is a disease which occurs not only in Florida every summer but also over a large portion of the Central and Eastern parts of the United States. In Florida it seems to occur oftenest along the East Coast. As the name indicates, it is caused by poisonous plants, or more strictly speaking, by diseased forage, such as fermenting grains and hay, or by grasses which have matted together near the ground and become mouldy. Sour or mouldy silage has also produced the disease, as has also stagnant pond-water in which vegetation is decomposing. Mouldy or worm-eaten corn has also come in for its share of blame as a cause. It affects horses and mules of all ages alike.

"The symptoms are as variable as the cause, and according to their nature we recognize three types of the disease. In the first type, the most rapidly fatal, there occurs a weak, staggering gait, partial or complete paralysis of the throat, blindness, twitching of the muscles, and no fever, as a rule. The animal soon goes down, becomes delirious and goes through the movements of walking, trotting or running while on its side. This stage is soon succeeded by deep coma, and the animal quietly expires in a few hours from the onset of the disease. The second type is first manifested by slowness of chewing, partial inability to swallow, and weakness in the tail. There is no pain or fever. The breathing and pulse are about normal, and a slight constipation exists. In two or three days the animal recovers, or all the foregoing symptoms are increased in severity. The throat paralysis is complete, the gait uncertain, coma or sleep appears, the pulse is weak and slow, the breathing is labored. Delirium now develops, the animal goes down, the spine becomes rigid and there is cramping of the neck and jaws. Death occurs in about a week or ten days in these cases.

"In the third or mild type, the control of the limbs and tail is only slightly affected, and the ability to swallow is not lost. There is no fever, pain, or unconscious movements, and the animal shows improvement in four or five days, ultimately recovering.

"In some cases of the disease, spinal paralysis is the most prominent symptom, while in others it may be difficulty in swallowing that attracts most attention. In all cases, if sleepiness or coma remains absent for a week, the animal will likely recover; but some form of paralysis may show for awhile.

"According to the symptoms do we find departures from the normal condition in the brain and spinal cord. In mild cases there are no notable changes in the nervous system. In others we note considerable liquid in the brain and spinal cord cavities, and distention of the blood vessels. In the several cases the brain and spinal cord will appear softened, and even abscesses may be found.

"The object of this article is to call attention to the causes of this disease, so that owners will be more careful to provide their animals with pure food and drinking water."

State papers please copy.

"The sun is all very well," said an old Irishman, "but the moon is worth ten of it." "Why?" asked his friend. "Because the moon affords us light in the night when we want it, whereas the sun's with us in the daytime, when we have no occasion for it," was Pat's explanation.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

The friendship of France and Germany will never be very warm, says The Cincinnati Enquirer. The two great countries may stand together on some important questions of foreign policy, and appear superficially to be on terms of sweetness and amiability, but the war of 1870 will be the dominant recollection. France will grit her teeth over the loss of Alsace and Lorraine, the humiliating incident to the invasion of Paris, and the payment of large indemnity. There are still black hangings on the Statue of Metz in the Place de la Concorde, in the French capital.

Wars rankle in the minds of the passing generations. Even after one hundred and twenty-five years, at a time when the United States and Great Britain are in the affectionate embrace brought on by interdependence of commercial interests, we cease not to glorify over the heroic achievements of the Revolutionary patriots, who so "worried the life" out of Great Britain that she finally consented to let us go free.

"War is disunion," Stephen A. Douglas was quoted as saying prior to our civil conflict. It turned out not to be so; but the memory of the great civil conflict is still green, and nobody can blame the veterans of either side for still thinking they were right. And, lo, does not some great man still think it necessary to go South occasionally and throw another bridge over the "bloody chasm."

France and Germany may preserve the peace, but they can never be real, downright, heart-to-heart friends. The animosity and memory of a hard fight is one of the hardest propositions civilization has to deal with.

The "Gainesville Spirit" still rages with unabated vigor in Florida's progressive inland city. At the recent bond election there were only 27 votes out of a total of 272 against the proposition to spend $115,000 for city improvements. The result is that Gainesville will have sewers, paved streets, electric lights and a hospital. Gainesville deserves all the prosperity that is coming its way.—St. Augustine Record.

WANTED TO KILL JEROME.

Witness Claimed He Was Not Paid Enough for Evidence

New York, Oct. 19.—An attempt to batter down the door of the office of the district attorney, W. J. Jerome, was made today by Jacob Meyer, who said that he wanted to kill Mr. Jerome. Meyer attacked the door before the district attorney's arrival and was found by the police trying to get through the panels and shouting that Mr. Jerome had failed to pay him sufficient fees for his services as a witness in the "Red-Light investigtaions" a few days ago.

When Meyer was arrested a bottle of morphine and hypodermic syringe were found in his possession.

The police recognized him as a man who testified for the prosecution against Inspector Cross, Captain Herlihy and Wardman Heagan, in the "red-light" district disclosures by Mr. Jerome. He was arraigned in police court on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on Blackwell's island.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Double Tragedy in Oregon.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 19.—News has arrived here of the killing at Marshfield yesterday of Mrs. J. O. Stoops, by J. A. Armitage. Both were married, and had families. Armitage seems to have been infatuated with the woman, and when she repulsed him went to her home and broke into the house. She shot him in the forehead as he was ascending the stairs but he used his revolver with fatal effect and returned to his own home before he died. Mrs. Stoop's family with the exception of her husband, witnessed the tragedy.

STUDIED MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Americans Who Have Been Abroad Give Their Opinions of Question.

New York, Oct. 19—Two Americans who have been making a study of municipal ownership problems and have carried their investigations to foreign lands, returned yesterday and with directly opposite conclusions. One of these, Marshal Field, of Cabago, says flatly that municipal ownership won't do.

"It is a fad," he asserted, "as he gained the pier of the North German Lloyds, from the deck of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, arriving from Bremen. "It's a fad like the silver question was, and we will find that it will soon drop out of the public mind. I predict that within five years we in America will hear nothing more about it. After Mayor Dunne's campaign in Chicago, I certainly ought to know enough about that subject to know that municipal ownership is a bad thing for us."

On the same vessel was Jas. B. Reynolds, a former university settlement worker, who was secretary to Mayor Low during his incumbency of office.

"In Japan," says Mr. Reynolds, "I found some of the fine illustrations of municipal ownership. Take Osaka for example, the street railways, telegraph and telephone service, water and lighting plants as well as all other public utilities are owned by the municipality. During the time the system has been in operation the city has received returns of 30 per cent on the investment."

SHIPS SENT TO VENEZUELA.

They Will Not Bombard Ports Unless It Is Necessary.

Paris, Oct. 19.—The armored cruiser De Saix understod to be bound for Venezuelan waters, did not put into Brest after leaving Cherbourg Oct. 16, as it was announced she would do, but passed the island of Ushant heading direct for the French Altilles, where she will join the cruisers Troude and Jurien de La Graviere.

For the present the cruisers LaVoisserer and Chasseloup-Laubat will be held at Brest as the situation may not require their presence in West Indian waters.

The officials here say that the published report at the French squadron intends either to bombard some coast point such as Cumana or Barcelona or else seize Venezuelan shipping is an exaggeration, as the only decision arrived at is to have ships in readiness, the nature of the demonstration being determined on later if the attitude of Venezuela requires a resort to force. At the same time the officials are sincerely anxious to avoid the necessity of adopting force. In any event, the United States will be fully advised in advance concerning the nature of any coercive measures.

A dispatch from Cherbourg reports that in naval circles there it is expected that marines from the De Saix will be landed in Venezuela.

Impossible to Form New Cabinet

San Francisco, Oct. 19—The Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Illinois Central and New York Central railroads are preparing to take across the continent the largest shipment of blooded horses ever made from San Francisco to New York. The horses are to be shipped on Nov. 19, next, from J. B. Higgin's famous ranch Del Paso, which is to be sold in small tracts for farming purposes. The shipment will require four trains of 12 cars each. The railroads will get for this shipment $42,500 in freight charges. Other expenses will bring the cost of sending this big shipment east up to $50,000. There are about 600 horses consisting of 502 brood mares and about 97 stallions.

FEROCIOUS FRIENDSHIP.

An Incident in the Life of the Tragedian Macready.

Between Macready and my brother Charles existed a kind of ferocious friendship. Macready, whatever he may have been in private life, had at the theater a simply horrible temper and he was in the habit of using at rehearsals and even in an undertone when acting the most abusive language—language which my brother sometimes passed by with a smile, but which he occasionally hotly resented. He did not mind Macready constantly addressing him as "beast," but he objected to having his eyes, his limbs and his internal organs coupled with invective terms. Yet, oddly enough, the great tragedian, with whom he was constantly quarreling, had a grim respect and liking for him. He knew him to be a gentleman and a scholar and one who was a competent judge of picturesque effect and an acute dramatic critic. On one occasion Macready having to play "Othello," and my brother not being included in the cast, the tragedian thus addressed him: "Beast, I want you to go in front tonight and give me afterward a full and candid opinion as to the merits of my acting. Omit nothing. Tell me how I played and how I looked. I have an idea that I shall surpass myself this evening." Now, the great actor used to go through a tremendous amount of realistic effort in the part of Othello and toward the close of the tragedy would get into such a disorganized physical condition that he was all perspiration and foaming at the mouth and presented a somewhat shocking spectacle.

My brother duly occupied a seat in the front row of the dress circle and narrowly watched the performance from beginning to end. Then he went behind the scenes and repaired to Macready's dressing room. The artist was being disrobed by his dresser and was panting with excitement in an armchair.

"Well, beast, what was it like?"

My brother told him that he had derived the highest gratification from the performance and he had never seen him play Othello more superbly. He was magnificent in his speech to the Venetian senate, the jealousy scenes with Iago were splendid, the murder of Desdemona was superb, and he died inimitably. Macready's face lighted up more and more as my brother answered his many queries.

"'Tis well, beast," he observed at last. "'Tis well—very well, and, now, what was my appearance—how did I look, beast?"

My brother cogitated for a moment and then, with perfect candor, replied, "Like a sweep, sir!"—G. A. Sala's Recollections.

Unloaded on the Editor.

Soon after arriving in London Justin McCarthy obtained an introduction to an editor who had started what was then the novel feature of publishing short stories in newspapers. Mr. McCarthy wrote a story for him and sent it in. A few days later he called at the office to learn its fate.

"I hope you can see your way to accept it," he said timidly.

"Yes, and sixty more like it," replied the editor.

Nothing more was heard of Mr. McCarthy for several months. When he eventually put in an appearance at the office he had a large parcel with him.

"What have you got there?" asked the editor, seeing him untie the cord.

"These are the sixty stories you asked me to write," answered his visitor. The editor gasped for breath.

"But I didn't ask you to write anything like that number!" he said.

"You expressed your willingness to accept sixty stories like the one I wrote on approval, and here they are. I merely took you at your word," quoth the young Irishman. The stories were not refused.

The Salamander.

In Andrews' "Anecdotes Ancient and Modern" (1789) one reads, "Should a glass house fire be kept up, without extinction for a longer term than seven years, there is no doubt but that salamander would be generated in the cinders." This probably accounts for the popular idea that a salamander lives in the fire, a fallacy so far removed from the truth that the curious lizard-like beast so called cannot endure even the heat of the sun, but skulks away under stones to avoid it. It will never lose its reputation for fire eating, though, which lingers still in the heating utensil that is named after it.

Astonishing Incident.

It was, to all her friends, an astonishing incident that Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wis., was cured of her dreadful sickness. "Doctors," she writes, "had given me up; friends were ready to bid me the last farewell; clouds of despair darkened my horizon, and I was a wreck on the shores of despondency, when I began to take Electric Bitters for my frightful stomach and liver complaint. To the astonishment of all, I was benefited at once and am now completely and miraculously restored to health. At all drug stores; price 50c; guaranteed.

"The Lost Chord."

Perhaps the most successful song of modern times is "The Lost Chord," whose sale in Great Britain has exceeded 250,000 copies. The story of its composition, as told by Mr. Willeby in his "Masters of English Music," illustrates that in art, as in statesmanship, success came to those—

Who knew the seasons when to take
Occasion by the hand.

For nearly three weeks Arthur Seymour Sullivan had watched by the bedside of a dying brother. One night, when the end was not far off and his brother was sleeping, he chanced to come across some verse of Adelaide Procter's which five years before he had tried in vain to set to music.

In the silence of that night watch he read them over again and almost instantly their musical expression was conceived. A stray sheet of music paper was at hand and he began to write. The music grew and he worked on, delighted to be helped while away the hours of watching. As he progressed he felt sure the music was what he had sought for and failed to find on the occasion of his first attempt to set the words. In a short time it was complete and not long after in the publisher's hands.

Slaves of Their Own Doubts.

The habit many people have of torturing themselves because of their inability to remember whether or not they have done certain things is diagnosed as a disease by a French physician and called folie de doute. The victims are slaves of their own doubts. They suffer tortures from their inability to remember whether they addressed a letter correctly, whether they turned off the gas properly before they got into bed, whether the fires have been properly safeguarded for the night, etc. The business man cannot remember whether he closed his desk when he left his office and perhaps gets off his train at the first station and takes the next one back to town only to find that everything is all right. The housekeeper lies awake for hours worrying about the kitchen window and finally creeps downstairs to find it securely closed. The learned physician who diagnosed this distressing complaint has not, unhappily, suggested a remedy.

Cures Winter Cough.

J. E. Gover, 101 North Main street, Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stop the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

"Bonds of Freedom."

If marriage without love is not marriage, so also love which does violence to marriage is not love. The marriage ceremony is not a proclamation of imprisonment, but of opportunity. Its bond is not a fetter, but a garland. Still, it may not be disdained or broken. The crowning does not make the king, you say. No, but it places upon the man whose head receives the crown the obligation to sacrifice, if need be, everything that is mortal in him to its honor.—North American Review.

Hubby (desperately)—Give me your clothesline. I'm going to hang myself. Wifey (sweetly)—Oh, George, I'm so sorry. This clothesline is so rotten it won't hold you. You'll have to buy one, dear!—Cleveland Leader.

Sad Result of Experiment.

Aunt Ann—You think John no longer loves you? New Wife (sobbing)—I—I know it, auntie! I p-put on an ug-ugly old hat this morning and he never noticed the dif-dif-difference!—Chicago Tribune.

A PUEBLO LEGEND.

The Story of the Great Flood and the Monster Turtle.

The children of the Pueblo Indians have a Noah's ark of their own, and some of the animals it contains are very curious indeed—such animals, in fact, as civilized young people are not acquainted with. Among them are mountain goats, queer creatures of the cat tribe and prong horned antelopes. All of these animals are made out of clay and baked like pottery, after which they are painted in quite an artistic and lifelike fashion.

Like most other peoples, the Pueblo Indians have a tradition of a great flood. The catastrophe occurred long ago, when they lived in the ancient land of their forefathers. One day the earth began to shake and strange rumblings grew louder and louder until at length an opening yawned in the middle of the central square of the town. Out of the opening gushed a mighty stream of water, overwhelming the houses and flooding the valley, so that the inhabitants fled with their live stock to neighboring mountains.

Presently there rose out of the hole in the earth the head of a gigantic turtle, which towered to the very roof of the sky. Everybody was terror stricken, but the chief man of the town, whose name ought to have been Noah, plucked up the courage to ask the great reptile what it wanted. The turtle replied that it was hungry and that its appetite could be appeased only by the sacrifice of a young man and a young woman. There was nothing to do but to obey, and so a handsome youth and a beautiful girl were delivered up to the turtle, which took them in its mouth and sank with them through the hole. Immediately all of the water flowed away, and in the place where the reptile had appeared there rose up a large black rock, which, according to the myth, may be seen to this day, testifying to the truth of the story.

Unfortunately, the deluge left things in such a damp and uncomfortable condition, after destroying all of the houses and most of the portable property, that the people thought it wisest to go away. So they started on a journey northward, the whole tribe of them, and the crane, which is a sacred bird, flew ahead to pick out the driest route. At length they came to the region which their descendants now inhabit and which is so extremely dry that the water supply is always a subject of anxiety.

The Paris Frotteur.

Almost every one who has lived in Paris at some time or other made the acquaintance of the frotteur, whose sole business it is to polish oak floors. The typical frotteur is quite a character. He is urbane and patronizing. He confers an immense favor upon you by condescending to beeswax your floors, but he has tact enough not to make you uncomfortable, and so long as you show a proper respect for the profession of which he is a member he is politeness itself. He never fails to take a great interest in his customers and knows all about their friends, their income and their private affairs generally. Idiosyncrasies of the Paris frotteur have their drawbacks, but, on the whole, the corporation is made up of very useful members of society, for whom their customers generally entertain a kind of amiable weakness.

COMPOSITIONS IN PRISON.

Confinement Did Not Apparently Disturb These Men of Letters.

Imprisonment of the learned, whether legal or illegal, does not seem to have disturbed the man of letters in the progress of his studies.

It was in prison that Boethius composed his excellent book on the "Consolations of Philosophy," and Grotius wrote his "Commentary on St. Matthew" during his confinement.

While in the dungeon of a monastery in Portugal Buchanan composed his excellent "Paraphrases on the Psalms of David."

"Fleta," a well known and excellent law production, was written by a man confined in an English prison for life. His name, however, was not preserved.

During his confinement for five years on account of some state troubles Pelisson pursued with ardor his studies in the Greek language and produced several good compositions.

The best and most agreeable book in the Spanish language was composed by Michael Cervantes during his captivity in Barbary.

When Louis XII. was duke of Orleans he was taken prisoner at the battle of St. Aubin and confined in the tower of Bourges. While there he applied himself to his negelected studies, with the result that he subsequently became an able and enlightened monarch.

Margaret, queen of Henry IV., king of France, while confined in the Louvre warmly pursued the studies of elegant literature and composed a very skillful apology for the irregularities of her conduct.

During his confinement Sir Walter Raleigh produced his "History of the World."

Queen Elizabeth while imprisoned by her sister Mary wrote some very charming poems, and Mary, queen of Scots, during her long confinement by Elizabeth produced a number of pleasing compositions.

It was while he was cruelly confined at Holmsby that Charles I. wrote that excellent book entitled "The Portrait of a King," which he addressed to his son and in which the political reflections are said to be worthy of Tacitus. By some this work has been attributed to a Dr. Gander, a blatant radical of that period, but who was incapable of writing a single paragraph of it.

Origin of Some of the Dust.

Dust is to a large extent a product of human activity. In houses and workshops, on the highways and in the streets—everywhere there is wear and tear of things, and the product is always dust. The wearing and cleansing of our clothing are continually breaking up its fibers into minute particles, and the friction of clothing on the skin carries away the scales of the epidermis, which are constantly being shed and renewed.

Every contact of human feet, horses' hoofs and the wheels of vehicles with paving and road materials wears away particles of iron and stone. The effects of the weather and the alternations of cold and heat disintegrate all exposed surfaces. To these particles, which form the dust invariably present in dwellings and in the streets, there must be added the innumerable minute cells of vegetable origin incessantly floating in the air, and on a complete view the dust produced by the disintegration of meteors by contact with our atmosphere must also be mentioned.

Dust accordingly consists of portions of all substances, organic and inorganic, which decay by natural processes and are reduced to powder by any means whatever. Few of its constituents can be recognized by the naked eye. The microscope alone can detect the nature of many and especially those of the greatest importance.

An Impulsive Duchess.

In 1684 Anne Marie d'Orleans, the daughter of Philip of France and Henrietta of England, was married to Victor Amadeus II., and thus brought about an alliance between the houses of Stuart and Savoy. The duchess was an impulsive creature and not seldom was the occasion of surprise and dismay. After the marriage in Paris by deputy she traveled to Les Echelles, where for the first time in her life she saw her husband. The sequel is amusing.

The duchess had arrived only a few hours previously and was just finishing her breakfast as the duke entered the village. On hearing the approaching sound of fifes and timbrels and the cacophony produced by cheers, voices and a general hubbub of excitement, she quickly rose from the table and looked out of the window to ascertain the cause of all this stir and commotion, when she saw the pageant, at the head of which marched a fair young man of distinguished and martial bearing, who she was told was Victor Amadeus. Without a moment's hesitation, casting to the winds all the tedious instructions of etiquette with which latterly she had been surfeited, she flew down the stairs into the street and threw herself into the duke's arms.—"Romance of Savoy."

Most people think when they receive a favor that it is merely a sample, and that if the goods suit they can come back for more.

B. Edelstein, who recently returned from an extended stay in New York, where he has a branch business, left his son Dave to look after the New York end while he remains in Gainesville. Mr. Edelstein says there is little interest manifested in municipal politics this fall, it being conceded that Mayor McClellan will be re-elected by an overwhelming majority.

Col. S. I. Wailes, who has been in the city for several days on business connected with the United States land office, was a pleasant caller at this office yesterday. Though well advanced in years Col. Wailes is in the best of health and never looked better. As soon as he closes his land interests in Florida he will return to the West to look after his mining interests.

WADSWORTH—CARTER.

Quiet Home Wedding of Two Young People at Micanopy.

On Wednesday, October 18th, 1905, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carlton, Micanopy, Fla., Marie, their eldest daughter, was united in matrimony to Mr. J. W. Wadsworth of Madison, Fla. The contracting parties being both members of the Catholic Church, the ceremony was performed in accordance with the rites of the church and followed by a nuptial mass.

After the ceremonies breakfast was served, and the bride and groom left on the early train for Gainesville, accompanied by Miss Fannie Moore of Hawthorn, the only invited guest, she having been for years an intimate friend and chum of the bride.

The happy pair left Gainesville soon after 12 o'clock for Jacksonville and other points, where they will spend awhile before going to Madison, where they expect to make their future home.

This is the second bird that has flown from the nest within the last two months. On August 30th Grace, the second eldest daughter, was married to Mr. Geo. M. Arnow, a mail clerk of Jacksonville, and has gone there to live.

Young Man Detained.

Yesterday afternoon Marshal Pinkoson apprehended a young man by the name of Glenn Baylis, on order from Sheriff Leonard of St. Lucie county, stating that Baylis is wanted at Fort Pierce. Baylis is a young man of about 23 or 24 years of age, a book-keeper by occupation, and declares that he is ignorant of any charge that may have caused his arrest.
